Hello,

Due to global platform issues, you may have experienced difficulties accessing all stories in the latest Starting Strong enews. Links to all stories have now been updated, please click on the enews below to read more. IEU apologises for any inconvenience caused by these technical difficulties.

IEU membership provides you with support throughout your career. A strong union can advocate for teachers' status, pay and conditions, and provide individual support. So come and see us when we are on campus and tell your friends about us too!

John Qussy

Secretary, Independent Education Union of Australia NSW/ACT Branch

At your uni soon

IEU visits universities to speak to teacher education and early childhood students about the importance of joining the IEU.

Write that CV

...and get that job! Have you almost finished your course? Are you already teaching casually? If you are, you probably want to brush up your CV or resume so that it gives you the best chance of getting a position at the school of your choice.

What's in a name?

What's in a name? From BOSTES to NESA. You might have noticed that BOSTES (Board of Studies, Teaching and Educational Standards) has changed its name, as of 1 January 2017, to NESA (NSW Education Standards Authority).

Started working?

Have you started working - either casually or full time? Are you working mostly in the non government sector? Make sure you update your membership details.

Students don't pay to join the union, but once you start working, you need to join as a full member, even if you're working casually.

There are discounts and lower fees for teachers in their first year. The best thing to do is either call the IEU 8202 8900 or email membership@ieu.asn.au

Introducing Karen Forbes

IEU has staff dedicated to helping students and early career teachers navigate the complex world of teaching and accreditation. Professional Officer Karen Forbes is available to provide advice and support to student and teacher members.

Karen has heaps of experience in non government schools. She has been an organiser with the IEU for a number of years, and before that was a principal in the Maitland-Newcastle region. You can contact Karen or a member of the PD team here:
